

Lueasa PRESSKIT

One thing is for sure: Ballerinas know how to move! For Lueasa, who spent her whole life dancing ballet, music has always been a key to expression. So it was only a question of time until you would meet her behind the decks. Spending her golden twenties in Germany's techno capital Berlin, she engaged with the prolific nightlife and scene - a world where time didn't seem to exist. Encountering parties, meeting people and getting lost in time together. Digging and selecting more and more, Lueasa shaped a clear vision of what music can achieve. A couple of years ago she finally took the leap of faith and moved from the dance floor to the decks. Immediately realizing she has found her calling. Today, Lueasa loves to take a crowd and pull them into her world of trippy, driving, elegant and hypnotic sound. Navigating through her sets as carefully as a ballerina and combining her fine taste in music with unparalleled positive energy.

